Introduction

The history of the New Zealand Donkey and Mule Society can be traced back to the publications of the first issue of the Donkey Dispatch (which would later become the official publication of the New Zealand Donkey Society).

The Donkey Dispatch was first published in December 1973, nearly a year before the society was launched. Pearl Wilson, who compiled and edited the magazine, started it in the hope of gaining a following large enough to officially establish New Zealand's first donkey society. The first Donkey Dispatch was sent out to over sixty members. By the second issue the circulation had grown to over one hundred.

The inaugural A.G.M. of the New Zealand Donkey Society was held on 14 November 1974. Pearl Wilson was elected president of the newly formed Society along with 12 other committee members. Since its establishment, the Society has gone through several name changes:

- New Zealand Donkey Society (1974);
- New Zealand Donkey Breed Society Inc. (1974);
- Donkey Society of New Zealand Inc. (1989); and
- Donkey and Mule Society of New Zealand Inc. (2004).

It now has nearly 350 members registered in New Zealand and around the world, as well as over 3400 registered donkeys. The Donkey and Mule Protection Trust NZ (<http://donkey-mule.org.nz/WelfareTrust.html>) was set up by the Donkey and Mule Society to finance the rescue and rehabilitation of neglected donkeys, in order to relieve individual members who had done so for many years.

The archives of the Society were transferred to the Massey University Archives in 2008. Various governance related papers are held, including certificates of incorporation, rules for registration, rules for showing etc. Also held are a number of sets of minutes of the Society as well as a wide variety of correspondence files and financial records. The archives further include publications of the Society, including the Executive Newsletter and its quarterly magazine, the Donkey and Mule Dispatch. Also found is a large number of newspaper cuttings. The original registers of Jacks, Jennies and mules, some stud books and other register and ownership papers make up a large part of these archives. The archives furthermore contain several photo albums with photographs covering events such as shows, field days, annual general meetings and social gatherings.

Where applicable and possible, the archival material of each entity/office is arranged into the following series and subseries:

- 1 General
- 1-1 Governance Documents (e.g. Constitution, Policies, Planning documents, Regulations, Statements, etc.)
- 1-2 Minutes and Meeting Documents
- 1-3 Correspondence Files
- 1-4 Financial Items (including Financial Registers)
- 1-5 Circulars
